GIVE THANKS.

The President's Proclamation for November 26.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The President to-day signed a proclamation fixing Thursday, Nov. 26, as a day of Thanksgiving.

The text of the President's proclamation is as follows:

It is a very glad incident of the marvelous prosperity of the year now drawing to a close that its helpful and reassuring touch has been felt by all of our people. It has been as wide as our country, and so special that every home has felt its comforting influence.

It is too great to be the work of man's power, and too particular to be the device of his mind. To God, the beneficent and all-wise, who makes the labors of men to be fruitful, redeem their losses by his grace, and the measure of whose giving is as much beyond the thoughts of man as it is beyond his deers, the praise and gratitude of the people of this favored nation are justly due.

Now, therefore, I, Benjamin Harrison, President of the United States of America, do hereby appoint Thursday, the 26th day of November, present, to be a day of joyful thanks giving to God for the bounties of his providence, for the peace in which we are permitted to enjoy them, and for the preservation of those institutions of civil and religious liberty which he gave our fathers the wisdom to devise and establish and use the courage to preserve.

Among the appropriate observances of the day are rest from toil, worship in the public congregation, the renewal of family ties and our American fire sides and thoughtful helpfulness to ward those who suffer lack of the body or of the spirit.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, the 13th day of November, in the year of our Lord, 1891, and of the independence of the United States the 116th.

BENJAMIN HARRISON.
By the President: J. G. BLAINE,
Secretary of State.

FEAR OF A MOB.

James King for the Second Time Taken to Owensboro to Escape Judge Lynch.

[Henderson Journal.]

James King, the illicit whisky seller and wife abuser of Dixon, spent last night in the Henderson jail. He was brought to this city yesterday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff's Sam Campbell and John Hurley, and is being taken to Owensboro to be again incarcerated there. The procedure is under the order of Judge Givens, who but a few days ago had King brought from Owensboro to Dixon to stand his trial, and from the demonstration that has been made at Dixon, apprehending a mob, had King a second time removed from the temptation of the avenging disposed citizens of Webster. It is said that Judge Givens is making strenuous efforts to find out who was in the mob, from which King escaped just in time to save his neck, with a view to having them punished. Several prominent citizens have been indicted. It is said the best people of the community were in the mob, and that public sentiment is very much against the judge in his endeavors to punish the participants.

Archimedes, it is well known, was so absorbed in a geometrical problem that he was first aware of the storming of Syracuse by his own death wound and his exclamation on the entrance of the Roman soldiers was, "Noli turbare circulos meos."

Virta, the mathematician, was sometimes so buried in thought that for hours he bore more resemblance to a dead person than to a living one, and was wholly unconscious of anything going on around him.

On the day of his marriage the great Budaeus forgot everything in a philological reputation and was only awakened to the affairs of the external world by a tardy embassy from the marriage party.

And now how about the prophecy of our local prophets? One of them said it would not rain for the space of seven years, and the other for 15 years, and then the world would catch fire and burn up. These minor prophets were knocked completely out of the ring on the first round one day last week by a good sized rain.

Our ideas are that a local tare prophet is but little better than a hired man after all.

A NEW METHOD.

Instead of "hardening" Governor Brown Will Hold up the Judgment.

Frankfort, Nov. 17.—For the reason that petitions to the Governor for pardons come regularly loaded with professional pleas for mercy, Gov. Brown to-day concluded to adopt a new course in regard to minor offenses, and grant conditional release, which will serve both to check the desire for such Executive clemency and the tendency of the law-breaker to repeat the offense.

H. T. Johnson, of Louisville, was fined $50 and sentenced to jail for thirty days for carrying concealed and deadly weapons, and in granting the respite the Governor says:

"By virtue of authority vested in me, I conditionally respite, for two years, the said judgment, except commissions, fees and costs; and it is provided that if, during that time, the said Johnson shall not be guilty of a breach of the peace or of carrying concealed a deadly weapon, then this respite shall act as a pardon of the imprisonment of said judgment as aforesaid; otherwise, it shall not, but upon his conviction of any such offense as stated, the judgment shall thereupon be enforceable."

Indians Doomed to Die.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 17.—Judge Ross of the United States Court has sentenced three Yuma Indians to death for the brutal murder of an old medicine man of their tribe some months ago. The medicine man had failed to bring rain when requested by the tribe to do so, and according to the laws of the Yuma tribe such a failure is punishable by death.

Anarchists Surprised.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Within a stone's throw of the Haymarket, the police raided a secret meeting of the red-dog brigade, and arrested a score or two of their law hating, blood-thirsty individuals. When the meeting cut short by the officers, incendiary speeches, breathing threats against law and order in general, and the police in particular, were being made by the fire eaters. They were so completely surprised, however, they had not time to carry out their threats, before they were in the clutches of the law.
